Respectfully submitted,

C. S. TAYLOR,

Superintendent of Schools' Report

To the School Committee and Citizens of Sidney:

I herewith submit my fourth annual report of the schools for the year ending Feb. 20, 1922.

In many respects this has been a successful school year. The weather has been very favorable, there have been no epidemics and our teaching force has been capable and efficient and in most cases teachers have remained at the same school for the year.

The standard of a rural school cannot rise above that mark of efficiency determined by the efforts and desires of the parents and citizens of the district. Schools of the highest type will be found where the largest amount of community spirit exists. The welfare of a school depends quite as much on the interest and support of the parents as upon the efforts exercised by the teacher. No school is complete unless parents, pupils and teacher harmonize and work together for the common good.

The teacher with her little flock, isolated from the community, giving her best work, striving to please all factions and still do right, is sometimes found in the rural schools of this state, and I call your attention to this fact that you may appreciate the position of the teacher and that you may awaken to the fact that it is the duty of each one of us to make the school a success.

One thing which causes a misunderstanding between the parent and the school is the fact that the general course of study is gradually changing from year to year. From time to time new methods and subjects are being introduced into the school curriculum that the child's intellectual life may conform to the ever changing social and industrial life about him. If we look backward twenty-five years we realize the many drastic changes that have taken place in all walks of life. These changes at first were hard to accept but gradually have they become a part of our daily life.

Whatever our idea of an educational standard may be, we must follow closely the national standard, fashioned by the best brains of the country and embracing what is best and noblest for the future manhood and womanhood. "Be not the first by whom the New is tried; Nor yet the last to cast the Old aside."

REPAIRS.

Some repair work was found necessary especially at the Town Farm School. This building has been painted on the inside, the plastering mended and the ceiling whitened. The building in District No. 1 was shingled on one side and minor repairs made. The glass in many of the schools was out. This has been replaced and the windows puttied.

Much credit is due the teacher in District No. 10, through whose efforts the building has been painted and papered on the inside without expense to the town. In other districts various improvements have been made by teacher and pupils.

Many of the buildings need painting on the outside and in some of the schools the room should be papered and painted as a sanitary measure.

IMPROVED SANITATION IN THE RURAL SCHOOLS.

At the last legislature the following act was passed: "On and after the first day of September, 1924, all school buildings or buildings used for school purposes shall be provided with toilet facilities, that shall be installed in such a manner and location as to insure privacy, cleanliness and supervision by teachers, and shall meet at least one of the following minimum requirements:

- (a) Flush closets connected with a sewer, etc.

(b) Chemical closets of such type as shall be approved by the state superintendent of public schools, etc.

(c) Privies located in attached buildings provided with separate compartments for the sexes, accessible only by separated ventilated passageways from school rooms or corridors and constructed in such a manner that the vault of said privy shall be at least ten feet from the school room wall and adjacent to the outside wall of the building in which said privy is located."

Towns have now about two years to complete this work and the penalty for not complying with this act is the withholding of the state school funds.

We have but two buildings in which the toilet arrangement is standard and there are eight schools in which the toilet arrangements will have to be changed.

You will note of the three types of closets probably the most practical as well as economical is type C or the common privy. The outbuilding should be at least 12x16 feet. This will allow a wood space through the center 8x12 feet and a closet and passageway 4 feet wide on each side. Each passageway connected to the main room by door.

The vault should be constructed so as to be easily drawn out and cleaned. It is impossible to accurately estimate the cost of the work as conditions differ in each district. However, I believe the present out buildings can be used in the construction of the new addition in each district.

The town should authorize the committee to complete the work at four schools preferably in districts Nos. 3, 5, 4 and 9.
